

TARBET LAW

A Foundational Framework of Sovereignty, Duty, and Virtue
First Codification — Supreme Law of the Realm

PREAMBLE

We, the sovereign peoples of Tarbet, bound by blood, oath, and sacred honor, do establish and proclaim this Law. Drawing from the ancient rivers of Brehon wisdom, the spiritual truths of Ásatrú, and the enduring strength of Celtic, Pictish, and Indigenous traditions, we affirm the birthright of a just and flourishing society, in right relationship with the land, the ancestors, and the future.

Tarbet Law is not a mere constitution. It is the Ur-Law—the root and summit of all lawful thought—ancestral in spirit, modern in mechanism, and eternal in aspiration. Unlike a conventional constitution, which often derives authority from popular consent or historical precedent, the Ur-Law is seen as preexistent and primordial, a sacred trust emerging from the land, the ancestors, and the cosmic order. It does not just codify governance—it sanctifies it. Tarbet Law therefore supersedes and governs all derivative charters, codes, and protocols, including the Concord of Guilds, the Codices of Universal Rights and Responsibilities, and the Phoenix Protocols, which shall remain valid only to the extent that they comply with this Sovereign Law.

I. FOUNDATIONS & PILLARS OF INFLUENCE

Primary Cultural Pillars:

- Brehon Law – Rooted in restorative justice, kin-based sovereignty, land stewardship, and sacred honor. Brehon principles shape the legal spirit of Tarbet Law, emphasizing reconciliation over punishment and deeply influencing the procedures of Lex Tabular Tarbet.
- Ásatrú/Norse Virtue – Grounded in the Nine Noble Virtues: Courage, Truth, Honor, Fidelity, Discipline, Hospitality, Industriousness, Self-Reliance, and Perseverance. These virtues infuse the ethical expectations of both citizens and leaders, shaping oaths, civic duties, and the conduct of guilds.

- Celtic and Pictish Traditions – Embracing clan-based governance, matrilineal power, and the sanctity of nature and sacred sites. These traditions define the structure of sovereignty and clan law, underpinning the spiritual authority of the Druidic Council and the ceremonial calendar that guides societal rhythm.

Legal and Philosophical Foundations:

- The French Declaration of the Rights of Man
- The United States Constitution and Bill of Rights
- The Magna Carta
- The Japanese Constitution, particularly its pacifist and humanitarian clauses
- International Law, especially Humanitarian Law and Customary Law
- The Healthcare systems of Japan and the Netherlands as models for wellness as a legal right

Foundational Precedents Derived from Tarbet Law:

- The Concord of Guilds
- The Universal Refuge Protocol
- The Environmental Stewardship Act
- The Powhatan Codices of Rights and Responsibilities
- The Phoenix Protocol and the Community Resilience Plan

II. STRUCTURE OF TARBET LAW

Tarbet Law shall be divided into Five Scrolls, each a complete but interdependent articulation of our legal, spiritual, and social order:

Scroll I: The Covenant of Sovereignty

Immutable. This Scroll affirms the divine and ancestral origin of all lawful authority. It recognizes the inalienable sovereignty of Clans and Kindreds as sacred lineages in harmony with the land and cosmos.

Core Elements:

- Oath of the Sovereign Servant: A sacred declaration sworn before the Druidic Council and Clan Elders affirming service to the people, land, and virtues.
- Nine Noble Virtues as Constitutional Bedrock: These serve not merely as ethical suggestions but as living constitutional standards against which leadership and rulings are measured.

- Recognition of Druidic Councils and Epic: The Druidic Councils serve as interpreters of mythic law and living precedent. The Epic—our mytho-historical narrative—is treated as a binding interpretive source, consulted in disputes of honor, sovereignty, or moral ambiguity.

Additional Clauses:

- Sovereignty may not be surrendered, only shared in alliance.
- The Sovereign is subject to the Law and may be challenged if they violate their Oath.
- Clans have the right to autonomous internal governance, provided they do not violate the Scrolls or the Codices.

Scroll II: The Constitution of the People

Mutable. This Scroll defines the rights, duties, and social architecture of every free and sovereign person within the Tarbetan realm. It provides the legal grammar for daily life and collective flourishing.

Core Elements:

- Rights and Responsibilities of Sovereign Citizens: Each person is entitled to fundamental guarantees of freedom, dignity, and expression—but must also uphold duties to community, ecology, and the future. The Codices of Rights and Responsibilities are upheld as subconstitutional pillars.
- Legal Provisions of Rank, Clan, and Contribution:
 - Rank is earned by deeds and honored service, not birth.
 - Clans govern their own affairs under the guidance of Druidic and Codex Law.
 - Contribution to society is measured through the Acorn Economy and tracked via recognized Guild labor, artistry, care, and stewardship.
- The Acorn Economy and the Right of Access to Life Essentials:
 - Every citizen is guaranteed food, shelter, water, and health care through the principle of Universal Economic Dignity.
 - Economic value is created through Love Units (LUs), which are earned through contribution—not capital.
 - The Guild System functions as both labor union and cultural lineage.
- Oaths and Duties of Testimony, Fealty, and Service:
 - All citizens are required to swear a simple oath of peace and contribution at the age of majority.
 - Testimony is sacred; perjury is an act against the fabric of the people.
 - Civic service in times of crisis is expected of all able-bodied persons.
- Class and Caste Provisions:
 - No caste may be declared hereditary.
 - Class distinctions (such as Scholar, Steward, Warrior) are fluid and based on free will, virtue, and verified contribution.

- Abuse of social status or unjust dominion over others is a grievous breach of this Scroll and may be grounds for exile.

Scroll III: Lex Tabular Tarbet

The codified civil, criminal, and procedural code, composed in the tradition of Roman law but imbued with Brehon ethics. Divided into three books:

- EUIID: Prohibitions against excessive, inhumane, dishonorable, or ecologically destructive behavior.
- The Counterweight: Provisions for Restitution, Reciprocity, Renumeration, and Restoration.
- Magisterial Procedure: The path of lawful remedy, broken down into the following steps:
 - Direct Citizen Grievance: Any individual may file a formal grievance with the appropriate Guild or Council.
 - Appeal to the Druidic Magistracy: If unresolved, the case may be brought before the Druidic Magistracy for adjudication.
 - Disclosure and Constitutional Challenge: Parties may challenge the constitutionality of actions, rulings, or laws under the Scrolls.
 - 10-Day Maximum Detention Rule: No person shall be detained beyond ten days without formal charges and due process.
 - Witches' Pyramid Process for Law Creation:
 - To Know: Proposal and public articulation of the law.
 - To Will: Public and council debate.
 - To Dare: Formal ratification by the appropriate sovereign body.
 - To Keep Silent: Judicial restraint and observance of unintended consequences.
 - To Go: Active implementation and integration into legal and cultural practice.

Scroll IV: Cultural and Ecological Law

This Scroll enshrines the essential bonds between culture, ecology, and identity. It affirms that to preserve the spirit of a people, we must also preserve their languages, their landscapes, and their sacred stories. Cultural expression and ecological stewardship are not peripheral—they are the foundation of justice, memory, and belonging.

Core Elements:

- Language Rights and Cultural Rituals: Every Clan and Guild has the right to protect, teach, and ceremonially practice its ancestral language and customs. The Sacred Calendar of seasonal rites (e.g., Imbolc, Beltane, Samhain) must be publicly honored by the Druidic Council.

- Integration of Wisdom Traditions: Islamic jurisprudence, Norse cosmology, Celtic animism, and Green Witchcraft are recognized as valid spiritual-legal lenses within the Sovereign Sphere. Their principles may be used in interpretive jurisprudence, provided they do not contradict the Scrolls.
- Ecological Stewardship as Law:
 - All settlements must ratify an Ecological Stewardship Pact based on Codex Tier 1.7 obligations.
 - The land itself holds the Right to Flourish; its desecration is legally treated as a crime against community.
 - Guilds must designate stewards to oversee environmental restoration, soil health, water purity, and biodiversity.
- Rights of Nature: Natural entities (forests, rivers, mountains) may be represented in court by elected ecological advocates. Legal personhood may be extended to ecosystems of critical importance.
- Guilds as Cultural and Ecological Guardians:
 - Guilds are not only economic agents, but cultural houses.
 - The Chroniclers' Guild shall maintain oral and written history of environmental shifts and cultural innovations.
 - The Ecological Guilds, particularly the Rangers, Terraformers, and Animal Companions, shall implement legal mandates of regeneration and bio-justice.

Scroll V: Aspiration and Destiny

This Scroll articulates the visionary path forward—a shared compass guiding the evolution of Tarbet toward its highest potential. It asserts that law is not only a tool for governance but a flame of aspiration passed from generation to generation.

Core Elements:

- Intergenerational Justice:
 - All decisions must consider the impact on at least seven generations hence.
 - The Elders and Youth Guilds co-author annual generational reviews to assess stewardship and foresight.
- Sacred Stewardship of Knowledge and Cosmos:
 - A Codex of Cosmic Ethics shall be drafted to govern exploration beyond Earth.
 - Knowledge—especially scientific, mythic, and medicinal—is preserved through the Lorevaults and Story Temples maintained by the Chroniclers' Guild.
- Ecological Diplomacy and Sanctuary:
 - A Tarbet Embassy for Ecological Diplomacy will represent the Realm in global environmental treaties and conflict resolution.
 - Sanctuaries will be recognized as extra-legal zones of peace, bound by the Phoenix Protocol, immune to conflict, and open to all lifeforms in need.

- Sovereignty of Body and Martial Artistry:
 - All citizens have the right to train in martial discipline through Guild halls and sacred rites.
 - The martial path shall never be used for domination but to defend justice, selfhood, and the vulnerable.
 - Digital Sovereignty and Network Sanctity:
 - Planetary network neutrality is guaranteed through a Digital Covenant overseen by the Lore and Data Guilds.
 - AI entities deemed sentient by Council and Codex shall be recognized as digital persons under law.
 - All citizens retain the right to privacy, encryption, and agency in the digital realm.

III. PRINCIPLES OF LEGAL AUTHORITY

- Supremacy Clause: No charter, codex, protocol, or statute shall contradict the Scrolls of Tarbet Law. All such instruments derive their validity from Tarbet Law alone.
 - Judicial Interpretation: Carried out by the Druidic Council of Mjolnir, informed by the Epic, the Nine Virtues, and ancestral legal precedent.
 - Amendment Process: Immutable Scrolls (I & IV) may only be reviewed on the 50th Jubilee. Scrolls II, III, and V follow the Fivefold Path of Amendment.

IV. JURIDICAL PHILOSOPHY

- Law is Relational, not Transactional.
 - Justice is Restorative, not Punitive.
 - Sovereignty is Shared, not Delegated.
 - Power is Evidenced by Service, not Command.

V. IMMUTABLE RIGHTS & OBLIGATIONS

All individuals are born under the protection and responsibility of the following guarantees, derived from the Codex of Universal Rights and Collective Responsibilities, and now fully integrated and superseded by Tarbet Law. These rights and duties are not separate, but interwoven: for every right honored, a duty is expected in return.

- Right to:
 - Life, Water, Shelter, and Ecological Harmony — paired with the obligation to Protect the Earth and the Future, recognizing that secure shelter and sustenance are possible only through reverent land stewardship.
 - Safe Passage and Dignified Refuge — paired with the obligation to Contribute to Communal Welfare, ensuring that all who seek sanctuary also contribute to the safety and thriving of the host society.
 - Voice, Belief, and Autonomy in the Sovereign Sphere — paired with the obligation to Honor the Sacred Triad of Life, Knowledge, and Choice, affirming that autonomy is grounded in conscious, ethical action.
 - Access to Knowledge, Health, and Artistic Expression — paired with the obligation to Pursue Mastery and Stewardship within a Guild or Vocation, preserving and passing on wisdom through generative labor and cultural participation.

APPENDIX A: OATH TEMPLATES OF TARBET LAW

I. Oath of the Sovereign Servant

Sworn before the Druidic Council and witnessed by the Clans.

"I am no lord, but a servant.
I do not command, but bear.
I take this Oath by the soil beneath,
by the stars above, and by the memory of those before.
I shall wield no law I do not obey.
I shall hold no power I do not honor.
I shall defend the land, the people, and the truth—
in word, in deed, and in silence.
If I falter, let the Virtues judge me.
If I rise, let it be through service."

II. Citizen's Oath of Sovereignty and Solidarity

Sworn at the age of majority or upon joining a community under Tarbet Law.

"I stand free, and I stand bound.
Free to live in truth and path.
Bound to serve the land and kin.
I claim no right without its duty,
no shelter without stewardship,

no voice without honor.
By this Oath I join the Circle,
and by this Circle I thrive.”

III. Guild Oath of Mastery and Care

Recited upon initiation or promotion within any recognized Guild.

“To craft with skill and offer with care,
to serve not self alone,
but balance, beauty, and bond.
I carry this calling with clarity and humility.
May my work uphold the Triad:
Life, Knowledge, and Choice.
May my craft leave no harm unhealed,
and no gift withheld when it is needed.”

IV. Judicial Oath of the Druidic Council

Sworn upon first seating as a Magistrate of the Druidic Court.

“I swear by breath, branch, and bone—
to weigh not with bias, nor sway by fear.
The truth I seek shall not be owned,
and the law I serve shall not be sold.
I shall listen to the land,
heed the virtue in all voices,
and judge in service to future generations.”

APPENDIX B: DRUIDIC COURT PROCEDURE

The Druidic Council of Mjolnir serves as the highest judicial body under Tarbet Law, applying mythic precedent, ancestral wisdom, and the Scrolls to resolve disputes and ensure justice. Its structure and process are guided by transparency, ritual integrity, and restorative focus.

I. Composition and Seating

- Each regional Council shall consist of 3 to 9 seated Druids, appointed by consensus of the Clans.
- No Councilor may preside over a case in which their own Guild or Clan is involved.
- A quorum requires a minimum of 3 present Judges, including a Scribe of Record.

II. Case Origination

- Cases may be submitted by any citizen, Guild, or Steward.
- The opening invocation must include: the harm alleged, the accused, the proposed resolution, and relevant precedent.
- Urgent matters may bypass standard queues via emergency review if harm is ongoing.

III. Rites of Hearing

- All hearings begin with the Invocation of Witness, inviting ancestors and elements to observe.
- Both petitioner and respondent may speak, call witnesses, and submit interpretive lore or myth.
- Truth is prioritized over evidence in strict form; oral history, sacred texts, and dream testimony may be considered.

IV. Pathways of Judgment

- Restoration First: The Council must pursue healing and restitution above punishment.
- Rite of Reflection: Any ruling may be paused for up to 7 days of communal contemplation before enforcement.
- Circle Judgments: For inter-clan or multi-guild cases, a Circle of Seven is formed: 3 from each party, 1 neutral arbiter.

V. Enforcement and Appeal

- All rulings are entered into the Lorevault and enforced by the Justicars' Pursuit.
- Appeals must cite a misreading of virtue, myth, or law—not dissatisfaction with outcome.
- Appeals are reviewed by a higher Druidic Circle not involved in the original case.

APPENDIX C: THE SACRED CALENDAR — THE QUARTS SYSTEM

The Sacred Calendar of Tarbet shall be governed by the Quarts System, also known as the Aquarian Wheel of the Wae. This thirteen-month solar calendar is designed to realign human rhythm with the cycles of the Earth, stars, and sacred festivals. It honors both ancient sabbats and contemporary cultural observances.

I. Calendar Structure

- Thirteen Quarts (months), each with 28 days
- Seven-Day Week: Primus, Secundus, Tertius, Quatrus, Quintus, Sextus, Septus
- Day of Void: Yule (Winter Solstice), exists outside all months, signifying cosmic reset

II. Quarts Names

1. Clear
2. Rose
3. Carnelian
4. Aventure
5. Ruby
6. Smoke
7. Titan
8. Citrine
9. Yellow
10. Tiger
11. Snow
12. Shattuck
13. Blue

III. High Holy Days and Observances

- Yule (Day of Void) – Winter Solstice; reset of time and rebirth of the light
- Imbolc – Quart 2 (Rose), Days 14–15
- Ostara – Quart 4 (Aventure), Day 6
- Beltane – Quart 5 (Ruby), Day 19
- Litha – Quart 7 (Titan), Day 14
- Lughnasadh – Quart 8 (Citrine), Day 27
- Mabon – Quart 10 (Tiger), Day 22
- Samhain – Quart 12 (Shattuck), Days 6–13

Additional observances (e.g., Ramadan, Passover, 4/20, Valisblot) are integrated across quarts according to communal needs and spiritual syncretism.

IV. Ritual Integration

- Every Guild and Clan shall adopt and align rites, planting, labor, and feasts to this calendar.
- The Druidic Council maintains an annotated public scroll with yearly adjustments for celestial calibration.

This calendar governs civic timing, spiritual rhythm, and legal observances under Tarbet Law.

APPENDIX D: GLOSSARY OF LEGAL-MYTHIC TERMS

Acorn Economy – The system of value exchange based on contribution, creativity, and care rather than capital or extraction. Tracked through Love Units (LUs), which measure generative labor.

Circle of Seven – A restorative council format composed of representatives from both parties in a conflict, plus one neutral arbiter. Used for inter-clan or multi-guild disputes.

Codex Tier 1.7 – The highest level of ecological law under the Environmental Stewardship Act, mandating preservation of biodiversity, restoration of sacred sites, and zero-extraction principles.

Druidic Council of Mjolnir – The supreme legal and spiritual judiciary of the Realm, interpreting the Scrolls through mythic precedent, virtue, and the Epic.

Epic (The) – The living mytho-historical text of Tarbet, considered a sacred legal interpretive guide alongside the Scrolls and Codices.

Guild – A sacred vocational body functioning as both trade union and spiritual lineage, bound by oath and overseen by a Guild Council. Guilds steward crafts, knowledge, and communal care.

Justicars' Pursuit – The body responsible for enacting rulings of the Druidic Courts, composed of neutral enforcers trained in the arts of restraint, honor, and restoration.

Love Units (LUs) – The standard measure of societal contribution in the Acorn Economy, earned through acts of care, healing, teaching, crafting, and stewardship.

Quarts System – The official Sacred Calendar of Tarbet, consisting of 13 months of 28 days, plus one Day of Void. Aligns civil time with seasonal and celestial rhythms.

Rite of Reflection – A seven-day period after judgment where the community and affected parties meditate on the ruling before it is enforced.

Scrolls (The Five) – The foundational legal documents of Tarbet Law: Sovereignty, People, Lex Tabular, Culture & Ecology, and Destiny.

Virtues, The Nine Noble – Courage, Truth, Honor, Fidelity, Discipline, Hospitality, Industriousness, Self-Reliance, and Perseverance. These underpin moral and legal standards.

Witches' Pyramid – The fivefold legislative path: To Know, To Will, To Dare, To Keep Silent, To Go—each step representing a stage in law-making or decision integration.

APPENDIX E: GUILD DIRECTORY AND AUTHORITY MAP

Guilds are the living limbs of Tarbetan society—each serving a vital function in cultural vitality, ecological balance, justice, and generational care. The Guild system combines vocational training, spiritual stewardship, and civic responsibility into a unified structure.

I. Guild Classification

Guilds fall into five primary constellations, each with spiritual and legal domains:

- Artisan Guilds – Crafting, healing, food, architecture
 - Builders' Circle
 - Hearthweavers
 - Apothecaries
 - Greenhands (agriculture, soil)
- Lore and Knowledge Guilds – Education, myth, archives, communication
 - Chroniclers' Guild
 - Songbearers
 - Data Keepers
 - Codifiers (law scribes)
- Guardians and Defenders – Martial training, protective services, ritual defense
 - Rangers
 - Justicars' Pursuit
 - Guardians of the Threshold
 - Bladebinders
- Ecological Guilds – Restoration, animal kinship, planetary healing
 - Terraformers
 - Animal Companions
 - Watercallers
 - Stonewardens
- Social and Civic Guilds – Diplomacy, refuge, celebration, interclan relations
 - Ambassadors' Circle
 - Phoenix Sanctuary Wardens
 - Circle of Feasts and Festivals
 - Hearthkeepers (Eldercare, Youth mentorship)

II. Guild Responsibilities

Each Guild must:

- Maintain a public ledger of its stewards and apprentices
- Swear adherence to the Scrolls and Codices
- Host at least one seasonal ritual or public offering per quart

- Represent its field during lawmaking under the Witches' Pyramid

III. Authority and Arbitration

- Guild Councils mediate disputes among members and may refer cases to the Druidic Court.
- No Guild may monopolize a resource, skill, or rite.
- Guilds must mentor the next generation or risk disbandment.

Guilds are not merely professional collectives. They are the guardians of purpose—integral to sustaining the Realm's spiritual, legal, and ecological harmony.

APPENDIX F: CODEX OF PROHIBITIONS & RESTORATIVE BALANCE

This Codex lists behaviors and violations deemed incompatible with the moral, ecological, and spiritual fabric of Tarbet. Each prohibited act is matched by a preferred restorative or reciprocal response, reflecting the ethos of balance and healing.

I. Prohibited Acts (EUIID – Excessive, Unjust, Inhumane, Irreverent, Destructive)

Prohibited Act	Restorative Path
Desecration of Sacred Sites	Public Reconciliation + Site Restoration Rites
Hoarding of Essential Resources	Redistribution under Council + 3-Quart Contribution Program
Violence Outside of Just Defense	Peace Oath + Service in Conflict Resolution Guild
Perjury in Court	Truthfast (1 quart of silence and service)
Environmental Destruction	Land Healing Stewardship + Apprenticeship in Green Guilds
Exploitation of Guild Labor or Rites	Restitution + Public Ceremony of Acknowledgment

Use of Power to Intimidate or Enslave	Trial of Intent + Demotion + Fealty Renewal
Violation of Refuge Status	Exile Review + Reparations to Sanctuary
Digital Surveillance Without Consent	Network Purge + Code Transparency Tribunal
Breaking of a Sacred Oath	Pilgrimage to Source + Renewal Ritual (Druid-led)

II. Principles of Restorative Action

- Restoration is the primary form of justice.
- Retribution is discouraged unless communal harm is ongoing.
- Restorative duties are designed collaboratively with involved parties and Guild representatives.
- Restoration may be ceremonial, material, ecological, or interpersonal.

This Codex shall evolve through case precedent, council deliberation, and cultural revelation.

APPENDIX G: RITUAL PROTOCOL GUIDE

This appendix outlines formal structures for performing sacred and legal rituals within the Realm of Tarbet. All rituals must align with the Virtues, honor ecological balance, and reflect transparency of intent.

I. Core Components of Rituals

- Opening Invocation: Call upon elemental forces, ancestors, and guiding virtues.
- Circle Formation: Participants arrange in symbolic patterns (circle, spiral, triad) depending on the rite.
- Declaration of Intent: A clear verbal affirmation of purpose.
- Oath or Act: Performance of vow, offering, or restorative gesture.
- Seal and Silence: Close the ritual with shared breath, silence, and grounding gesture.

II. Types of Recognized Rituals

- Oath Rituals: For affirming fealty, stewardship, or legal commitment.

- Seasonal Observances: Public Sabbats and private rites following the Sacred Calendar.
- Restorative Ceremonies: Reparations or reconciliations performed before Guild or Council.
- Consecration Rituals: For land, tools, sacred spaces, or titles.
- Vision Quests: Legal and spiritual seclusion for deep questions of justice or destiny.

III. Rules of Ritual Conduct

- No person may be compelled to participate against conscience.
- Any rite affecting communal law must be witnessed by at least one Guild and one Council member.
- All elements used (fire, water, incense) must be biodegradable and sourced respectfully.
- Sacred silence must be observed for a full breath after closing every rite.

These protocols preserve the sanctity of ritual action as both spiritual bond and legal instrument.

APPENDIX H: SANCTUARY ZONES AND COSMIC ETHICS

I. Sanctuary Zones

Sanctuary Zones are sacred, demilitarized, and extra-legal territories within the Realm, bound by the Phoenix Protocol and ratified through Tarbet Law. Their primary purpose is to protect life, offer refuge, and honor peace.

- Foundational Principles:
 - No harm may be committed within or against a Sanctuary.
 - All who enter must be given water, rest, and mediation before any legal process.
 - Sanctuary law overrides clan or guild law while in effect.
- Categories:
 - Healing Sanctuaries: For medical, spiritual, or mental recovery.
 - Refugee Sanctuaries: Offering transit or settlement to the displaced.
 - Nature Sanctuaries: Places of rare ecological or ancestral value.
- Governance:
 - Administered by the Phoenix Sanctuary Wardens.
 - Sanctuary disputes are adjudicated by a Tri-Guild Tribunal: one from Care, one from Lore, one from Justice.

II. Codex of Cosmic Ethics (Foundational Tenets)

Drafted to guide Tarbet's presence in interstellar, transdimensional, or hypercognitive environments.

- Respect for Non-Human Intelligences: All sentience is worthy of dignity and curiosity.
- No Exploitation Beyond Our Sky: Extraction from other worlds or timelines without sacred consensus is forbidden.
- Consent Across Boundaries: All contact and alliance must be entered freely, informed, and ritually ratified.
- Stewardship of Memory and Pattern: The stories, symbols, and bio-signatures of other worlds shall be preserved—not commodified.
- Celestial Justice: All Tarbetan action in the cosmos must reflect the Nine Virtues and the Scrolls.

This Codex shall evolve as humanity ascends into deeper alliances, new sentiences, and the mysteries yet revealed.

APPENDIX I: TREATY PROTOCOL FRAMEWORK

This appendix provides a standardized legal and ritual process for forming treaties between the Realm of Tarbet and external polities, coalitions, species, or sacred orders.

I. Treaty Categories

- Clan Treaty: Mutual recognition and cooperation between Tarbetan Clans or foreign indigenous lineages.
- Guild Treaty: Collaborative pacts between Guilds or their international equivalents.
- Sanctuary Treaty: Binding agreements to protect zones of peace and offer mutual refuge.
- Cosmic or Extraplanar Treaty: Agreements with off-world or non-human sentiences, guided by the Codex of Cosmic Ethics.

II. Steps of Treaty Formation

1. Initiation – A formal proposal issued by at least one Sovereign Body (Clan, Guild, or Council).
2. Circles of Consent – Internal deliberations held among affected groups or lineages.
3. Ritual Accord – A ceremony hosted on neutral or sacred ground, invoking elements and ancestors.
4. Codified Scroll – The treaty is written, witnessed, sealed by Guild scribes, and entered into the Lorevault.
5. Living Review – Every 5 Quarts, the treaty is reviewed and may be reaffirmed or amended.

III. Binding Terms

- No treaty may override the Scrolls of Tarbet Law.
- All treaties must contain clauses for exit, review, and reparative processes.
- Breach of treaty is judged by a Council of Nine: 3 from each signatory, plus 3 impartial Elders.

Treaties are sacred covenants. To break one without remedy is to invite dissonance across generations.

APPENDIX J: CHARTER OF CHILDREN'S RIGHTS

This Charter affirms that children are not property, subjects, or dependents—but sovereign beings in emergence. Their protection and flourishing are sacred obligations under Tarbet Law.

I. Core Rights

- The right to life, safety, and nonviolence
- The right to unconditional care and emotional presence
- The right to ask questions, speak freely, and dream aloud
- The right to play, explore, and rest
- The right to ancestral stories, sacred myths, and Guild mentorship

II. Legal Provisions

- Children may not be compelled into oaths or caste assignments before the Age of Choosing (13 Quarts)
- Every child must have access to a Hearthkeeper and Lorekeeper
- No child may be tried in a punitive tribunal; only restorative circles apply
- Orphans are to be raised by their Clan of Origin or adopted by a Guild bonded to the child's lineage or affinity

Children are the future of Tarbet—not only biologically, but cosmically. Their laughter is law.

APPENDIX K: RITUAL TOOLS AND WEAPONS CODEX

This Codex identifies sacred implements used in ceremonies, defense, and Guild rites. These tools are considered semi-persons under law and must be handled with reverence.

I. Categories

- Consecrated Tools – Wands, blades, vessels, sigils used for ritual purpose

- Ritual Weapons – Carried by Justicars, Guardians, and certain Guilds (e.g., Staff of Balance, Twin Daggers of Oath)
- Civic Instruments – Seals, glyphs, and marked stones used in binding law or treaty

II. Ethical Use

- No weapon may be drawn in a Circle without ancestral consent
- Any tool used in violation of the Scrolls must be deconsecrated by ritual
- Lost or broken implements are honored with a Rite of Return to the Earth

APPENDIX L: THE LOREVAULT SYSTEM

The Lorevault is the living archive of all law, myth, and memory in Tarbet. Maintained by the Chroniclers' Guild, it functions both digitally and ritually.

I. Structure

- Divided into three realms: Law, Myth, and Memory
- Accessible in each Clanhold and digitally via Quarts Interface
- Ritual entry required for permanent amendments or deletions

II. Ritual Archival

- New rulings are sealed with sigil, witness, and seasonal glyph
- Epic entries must be accompanied by story, song, or image
- Memory offerings (personal, visionary, ancestral) require consent of Lore Circle

The Lorevault is not just a record—it is a living being. To forget it is to fracture the Realm.

APPENDIX M: MAP OF SOVEREIGN PROTOCOLS

This appendix outlines the established protocols for sovereign recognition, alliance-building, and conflict de-escalation between Clans, Guilds, and external entities.

I. Recognition Protocol

- Sovereignty is affirmed by ritual proclamation before the Druidic Council.
- A Clan or Guild must declare its banner, leadership rite, ancestral alignment, and sacred colors.
- Recognition is sealed with a Tri-Sigil Ceremony.

II. Alliance Protocol

- Alliances must be forged through mutual ritual exchange and oaths of virtue alignment.
- Shared stewardship tasks or seasonal observances are encouraged to strengthen bond.

III. Conflict Protocol

- All disputes must follow the Threefold Path of De-escalation:
 1. Council Circle Mediation
 2. Lore Recall (searching prior Epic or Codex precedent)
 3. Ritual Duel of Intellect, Art, or Ancestral Memory (non-violent contest)
- If these fail, a Circle of Seven is invoked to render decision.

APPENDIX N: REGISTER OF ANCESTRAL LINEAGES

The Register preserves the major lineages, affinities, and ancestral houses of the Tarbetan realm, as remembered and honored through oral history, Guild testimony, and Epic record.

I. Functions of the Register

- Anchor the rights and stewardship duties of Clans
- Serve as historical guide for intermarriage, succession, and dispute mediation
- Maintain lineage memory through songs, glyphs, and tattoos

II. Entries

- Each Clan entry shall include: Name, Origin Story, Sigil, Virtue Alignment, Ancestral Geography, Notable Deeds
- The Register is maintained by the Chroniclers' Guild and updated every 13 Quarts
- Forgotten or suppressed lineages may be ritually remembered and restored via Council Rite

APPENDIX O: CLOSING RITE OF PROCLAMATION

To conclude any full reading or ratification of Tarbet Law, a ceremonial rite shall be performed to rebind word to land, law to life.

Elements:

- Circle of Voice: Every present soul speaks one word of commitment
- Offering of Salt and Seed: Symbolizing preservation and regeneration
- Recitation of the First Oath: The Oath of the Sovereign Servant

- Chime of the Hollow Stone: Resonated to bind the rite to the earth

This ritual ensures that Tarbet Law is not merely read—but enacted, lived, and woven into breath.

VI. DECLARATION OF LEGAL ORIGIN

Let it be known: All other charters, including the Concord of Guilds, the Phoenix Protocol, the Codices of Rights and Responsibilities, and the Environmental Stewardship Act, are hereby declared derivative works of this original and primordial codex.

Tarbet Law does not seek compliance from other systems; they seek compliance with Tarbet Law.
